FALSE FIGURES ON LOCAL POPULATION

MAYOR FLORENCE TAKES UP MATTER WITH U. S. BUREAU - DETAIL REPORT ON COUNTIES

Mayor Al Florence, does not propose to sit idly by and accept Stanford's population as only 1,532, which is a loss of about one hundred in ten years according to the census figures of 1900. He has written to Census Director in regard to the figures sent in by the enumerators, who canvassed Stanford. It was unofficially understood here at the time the local census was completed, that the population of Stanford ran over 1,800 souls. It is said that the three enumerators who canvassed the city compared their totals and found this number of people in the city limits, and this calculation did not include the outlying suburbs. It is hardly probable, of course, that a recount can be secured, but the figures of the census enumerators who worked in Stanford can be compared and the error in the report sent out by the census bureau pointed out.

Anyone who has lived in Stanford for the past ten years knows that the population of the city has increased rather than fallen off. A prominent builder and contractor estimates that there are between fifty and one hundred more houses in Stanford now than there were in 1900, and the volume of business reported by the local business men has greatly increased.

The Census Bureau is now sending out detailed census reports of the counties and cities of Kentucky, the following being the detailed report from Lincoln and adjoining counties, with the total of the county this census and last and the population of each incorporated town in the counties:

DEATH OF W. S. GOODE.

Local relatives have received information of the death at Lexington of W. S. Goode. The Lexington Leader said:

After an illness of three days, Mr. W. S. Goode of Springfield, Ky., who was found at the corner of Maxwell and Limestone streets Saturday night, suffering from a stroke of paralysis, died at the home of his brother, Mr. R. A. Goode 225 East Third street, at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mr. Goode had come to Lexington to visit his brother last week and it was while he was taking a walk Saturday evening that he was suddenly stricken and fell on the sidewalk. He was taken to his brother's home, but although his condition was realized to be serious, it was not thought that the stroke would prove fatal.

Mr. Goode's wife was informed of her husband's illness Saturday night and came to Lexington on Monday. His brother and his sister, Mrs. Bettie Proyles of Mitchellburg, Ky., were at his bedside at the time of his death. Mr. Goode was 74 years old and besides his wife, he had two daughters, one who was with him at the time of his death, he had a son, a daughter, Mrs. Matilda Goode of Springfield, a widow and her two children who live at the family home.

Funeral services were held at Springfield, Ky. Mr. Goode was one of Lexington county's substantial citizens. He had a fine farm but lived in Springfield, the county seat and one of the most delightful of the smaller Kentucky cities.

PREACHERSVILLE

Preachersville is on the retrograde. From a red-hot daily mail for over 27 years, a mail service our sensible citizens were wont to brag about, we are now like a shipwrecked sailor, marooned on a desert island in the midst of a boundless sea, without chart or compass or even a glimpse of a passing sail. We now get our mail in this burg like our parents did fifty years ago. Anyone going to Crab Orchard is asked to "fetch mine", when it is known he is likely to call at the post-office. Blue eyed Betsy may oft think her love faithless or else forgetting, when his seeming delinquency is explained by the truant letter coming in after having to stay a week at Crab Orchard. A brand new school house here and not enough young ideas for a school. The school here was put with the Hobbs school last week, after a conference at Stanford Monday, between Supt. Garland Singler, trustees Blankenship, of the Preachersville school, and Cress, of the Hobbs school, and patrons of the Preachersville school residing in that part of the district which was formerly known as the White's Mill district. It seems that the patrons in the old original White's Mill district were promised a school in 1894, event that there were ever enough pupils in said district for a school. A good many new pupils have moved into the White's Mill district, while equally as many have moved out of the district here. Then there are twenty-two families which have no children in the legal school age, living here. President Roosevelt still preaches race suicide and could make out a capital text from our predicament.

The re-establishment of White's mill as a separate district, the consolidation of the district here with the Hobbs district, will give a sufficient enrollment of pupils to necessitate the employment of a teacher holding a first class certificate. More than twenty years since these two districts were one, and we had some mighty good schools.

Removal of the school from our village, abolishment of our post-office—only one more good lick is needed to kill our little village, eventually. Many years ago Walnut Flat was a promising place but now is only a name. Shall we meet a like fate?

On Tuesday last Mr. Thomas Lunsford and Miss Mary Ann Carpenter drove over to Stanford and were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The knot was tied by Rev. J. B. Jones at his residence. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Akers, who are brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The groom is a farmer and a son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Lunsford and is a hustler when it comes to work, while his bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Carpenter, and is both handsome and talented and a general favorite with all. We wish them well.

The recent storm did considerable damage to the barn roofs of Rev. Thos. Owens and son, Alfred Owens, over in the Canaan section of Garrard.

Born, to the wife of Rev. J. E. Roberts, a fine boy.

The attendance at the subscription term of school taught by Miss Lizzie Lettiss, was cut down the last of the week, on account of more than half of the pupils being ill with grip, colds etc.

Mrs. Alfred Owens who has been at the Gibson Sanatorium at Richmond, was brought home last week. She underwent a severe operation but it much better.

Remarkable Man

WAS ANDERSON PROCTOR WHO DIED IN ROCKCASTLE.

Anderson Proctor, one of the oldest men in Kentucky, died at his home near Mt. Vernon Rockcastle county last week aged ninety three years and seven months. He had 8 children six of whom are living. All were with him when death came, but one who could not be located in time to reach him. Five children were by his first wife and one by his second. His oldest child now living is 70, and the youngest by his first wife is 53 years old. Mr. Proctor leaves a third wife, but there are no children by that union.

Mr. Proctor had 123 descendants; 37 are grandchildren, 19 of these living; 70 great-grandchildren, and 6 great-great-grandchildren. Last summer a birthday dinner was given him in honor of his 93rd birthday, at which five generations were present.

Mr. Proctor developed his second eyesight about fifteen years ago. He was then totally blind, but for the last several years had been able to go about his home and hoe in his garden. He was only sick five days with pneumonia.

In 1856 he would bring produce to Lexington in a wagon and exchange it for merchandise. During these trips he would always stop over night at the old home of Henry Clay, now the beautiful Ashland. He had been a member of the Christian church about 80 years, and always followed closely in the footsteps of his Master. Many are left that with the smile that he always wore.

DOCTOR O'BANNON RETIRES FROM NEW STANFORD DRUG COMPANY SELLING TO DR. BRYANT.

Formal transfer of the half interest in the New Stanford Drug Company owned by Dr. W. R. O'Bannon to Dr. J. W. Bryant of Springfield, was effected last week. And notice of the dissolution of the old firm and organization of the new partnership has been published. Dr. O'Bannon found his practice requiring so much of his time that he was unable to give the work needed to his interest to the drug store.

Dr. Bryant does not come to Stanford a stranger. About ten years ago he was pharmacist for the old drug firm of Craig & Hocker, and has a great many warm friends in Stanford and Lincoln who are cordially welcoming him back.

SPRING CLEANING FOR WHOLE CITY.

The Woman's Improvement Club of Stanford very respectfully petition the city council to set apart April 21, and 22, as cleaning up days. Every citizen is requested to have his yard, vacant lots, barn yards, alleys and premises in general, cleared of all rubbish, litter, paper, tin cans or any thing else, useless or offensive and to disinfect well with lime, crude carbolic, or any other good germ destroyer. All public grounds and buildings to be attended to by the council or those in charge of same. That this shall apply to renters as well as property owners. That there shall be nothing dumped into the St. Asaph or along the public highways leading into Stanford. Where it is perishable assistance shall be given in loading the refuse.

We suggest that an empty barrel be kept in the back premises into which tin cans broken glass, and other rubbish may be put out of sight during the year and when spring cleaning comes, it will be a small matter to haul it out.

HOLDAM'S MILL

A HOPEFUL MESSAGE TO SCALP SUFFERERS AND MEN WHO'S HAIR IS THINNING.

Dandruff now—bald later. The same is true of scalp diseases. In fact baldness is a scalp disease. The trouble with the greasy salves and lotions, the so-called dandruff and scalp cures you have tried so far is that they don't do anything but temporarily relieve the itching and make the dandruff so it doesn't fall until its dried out again. Nothing can cure—really cure such troubles but a real scalp medicine that will kill the germs causing dandruff and scalp disease.

Learning from leading fellow druggists throughout America that they had found a whirling cure for dandruff, eczema and all diseases of the skin and scalp the Penny Drug Store is proving to the laboratories compounding the treatment that it is the most prominent drug store in this city secured the agency for the remedy. This remedy ZEMO, the clean liquid preparation that kills the germ of disease and ZEMO SOAP to wash the scalp or skin clear and clean of the dandruff or scale and by its antiseptic qualities soothes and heal.

Sold and guaranteed by druggists everywhere and in Stanford by G. L. Penny.
